SHEEKETSKI FOOTBALL FAMILY GROWS

Players' Choice Coach's Boast

John F. Denehy, '41

The other night Alumni Hall met a man whom we had frequently seen going up to football practice, but whom we had looked upon as "Mr. Sheeketski, Assistant Coach." In less than five minutes the "Mister Sheeketski of last year" turned into "A Crusader." Somehow or other we had always looked upon the new head coach as a Notre Dame man, but gradually we saw a real Crusader as he sat around with a group of us, answering questions and chatting as if he himself were a student. Each fellow that happened in, received a warm handshake, and as the new football mentor tossed off our first names we felt that he had registered and was one of us.

Happy Reaction

Suddenly from one corner we heard, "How do you feel about returning as the big boss?" A big grin and a flash of white teeth preceded the gentle tone that came back, and Mr. Sheeketski proceeded to give us a better idea of his estimate of the Holy Cross spirit that has marked Mount St. James and made this college unique. "Coming here as head coach has made me the happiest man in the world. You see, when I bade Father Rector goodbye, I real-

Turner And Cahill Co-Captains

By Paul F. Saint, '40

Yesterday afternoon Ronnie Cahill and Jim Turner were elected Co-Captains of next Fall's Varsity football team. Ronnie has been a sensational left-halfback for the past two seasons and Jim has been the big right guard for the same space of time. Cahill is recognized by prominent authorities as being one of the best passers in the entire country. He is a shifty runner and a trusty punter as well—thus being a triple-threat dangerous to all opponents. Ronnie is just as efficient on the defense, being a savage tackler and a dependable blocker.

Our other new Co-Captain, Jim Turner, is a fine running guard, whose accurate toe has gained many points for the Crusaders. He led the country in points after touchdown last Fall. Jim is President of his class, as well as being a member of the A. B. course.

It seems only right that Jim and Ronnie should end up their Intercollegiate football days as Co-Captains, for they have been playing football on the same teams now for six years. When the big guard graduated from Lawrence High, he decided to enter Horace Mann Prep School in New ized I was leaving a campus that was becoming a part of me, and the cloud didn't lift until I was notified that my application was not only under consideration, but that I was the lucky choice."

"The coach in the average college feels and is made to feel that he is someone apart from the college, separated from the student body, distinct from the real spirit of things, but here on the Mount I have enjoyed being considered a part of the college. The unanimous choice of the players is and will be my proudest treasure and boast."

"From 'Saturday to Saturday' will be our slogan. No game will be considered a 'breather.' With fine material, a great schedule, and the Crusaders' spirit, every indication points toward success."

Plans for '39

When questioned about his plans for next year Mr. Sheeketski said, "Concerning next year in general, there will be quite a few changes seen. My system will be essentially the same as taught me at Notre Dame, (Turn to Page Two) squads, has been appointed as End Coach of the Holy Cross football team.

The new end coach is well known to every student on the Hill—with the lone exception of the Freshmen. In the Fall of 1937 Ed was first string right end and was one of the greatest flankmen in the East, being named on several All-Star teams, gaining the distinction of being the Official All-New England Right End.

He returned recently from France where he had been playing with Jim Crowley's All-Stars.

York. At the same time, up in Leominster the diminutive Crusader left-halfback had a similar idea. After graduating from Horace Mann, both boys came to Mount St. James where they have played together on the first team ever since. When the new Captains became Sophomores, they both sat on the bench the first few games, but opened the important Georgia game and were very instrumental in the Crusader victory. It was Ronnie who threw the important touchdown pass and it was Jim whose accurate toe spelled victory.

Primaries Cut List Of 20 Men For Ring Committee

Junior Class Meets Dean Cox to Name Ring Committee

From the list of twenty candidates for their Ring Committee, the Juniors have selected six men in a primary ballot. Four boarders and two day students are the nominees and this list will be reduced to two boarders and one day student in the final voting.

Jack Delaney, Bob Pollock, Ray Wise and Art McDonald are the four boarders still in the running and Ed Scanlon and Ed Nigro represent the day students' section of the class.

Delaney and Wise are both members of the football squad and are among the most popular men in the class of '40. Bob Pollock, Managing Editor of the TOMAHAWK is one of the class' most active men and Art McDonald is known not only to his classmates, but to the entire student body as a mimic and Crusader par excellence.

Ed Nigro, who was a strong candidate for the Prom Committee, is a leader of the Worcester group and Ed Scanlon finds supporters amongst both boarders and day students.

The procedure of voting will be as follows. Each Junior shall vote for two boarders and one day student.

Debaters Favor O'Boyle, '42

Rev. Wilfred T. Bouvier, S.J., announced the election of the Freshman Debating Society at the first meeting of the year in Fenwick Auditorium Friday afternoon.

Thomas P. O'Boyle of Milwaukee was elected President of the Freshman Debating Society at the first meeting of the year in Fenwick Auditorium Friday afternoon. Other officers elected by the sixty members were, John C. Crystal of Plattsburg, New York, secretary, and Walter A. Morris, Jr., of Jackson Heights, New York, head chairman.

One team of five men was selected from each of the twelve Freshman sections. Each of these teams will participate in three or four bi-weekly debates which will be judged by Juniors. At the close of the season the best team will debate M. I. T. and Worcester Tech, while the best individual debaters will battle the B. C. Freshmen.

FRENCHMEN REVEL IN DIVERSIFIED PROGRAM

A fine program was evidenced last Friday by several French Clubbers at the regular meeting of the French Academy. It was the first of the year and showed itself as a very auspicious beginning. Guy LeFaivre, '42 gave an original paper, a dissertation on the sports in France. In short order came J. Guy LaRochelle who gave an excellent literary appreciation of LaFontaine's fable, "Le Corbeau et le Renard." The purpose of the paper was to exemplify the end of the author in his fable. Brutus Clay, '41, who on short notice was given an article to read, did well in his lecture.

Fr. Codaire, S.J. has prepared an extensive program for the second semester. He wishes to stress the fact that the Academy is open to all students on the Hill. You don't have to know French to belong.

HUGHES FLAYS PACIFISM

With the announcement of the appointment of John O'Connor, '39, John Daunt, '39, Bill Schultz, '39, Bernard Curry, '39, John Wilkas, '40, Steve Daly '39, Jim Toner, '39, and Lloyd Latendresse, '39, as chairmen of the various committees, the History Society began its task of playing host to the New England Catholic Students' Peace Federation convention which will be held on the Hill, February 11th.

Delaney Portrays Christian Ideal

Aquinas Circle Hears That Human Rights Are Paramount

Under the moderatorship of Father Sloan, S.J., the Aquinas Circle commenced its activities for the ensuing year with its inaugural meeting held on last Wednesday evening, Jan. 11.

The main subject of the evening was treated by Mr. Leo Delaney, '39 who rendered a very scholarly paper entitled "The Christian Concept of the State," in which paper were treated the various aspects of authority relative to Kings in their 'divine right' and to democracies in their inherited rights. It was pointed out and definitely proven from the Bill of Rights that "the rights of a free people are superior to their government," and consequently that "the state is made for man and not man for the state," as so many of the existing foreign powers would have it.

Also concerning the effects of this so-called 'monopolized rule' in foreign states, facts very descriptively exposed the present conditions existing in the schools of Austria—their prohibition and their teachers. This paper is the foundation of a series to follow, in which modern governments will be viewed in the light of these principles.

More Eulogized By Dr. Reilly

The Cross and Scroll, sponsoring the fifth lecture in their mid-winter lectures, presented Dr. Joseph J. Reilly last Friday night, the 13th, in Kimball auditorium. Dr. Reilly, professor of English and Librarian at Hunter College, and also a Holy Cross Alumnus, eulogizing Sir Thomas More—"The first modern Englishman," was one of the most interesting and entertaining speakers heard in Kimball in recent years.

More was born around the time of Columbus' discovery of America, the time of the Renaissance and Martin Luther. The latter two are accredited by Dr. Reilly with making Sir Thomas More as famous as he is today.

Sir Thomas More's life resembles the swing of a pendulum going from the most famous and respected lawyer in London to the poor, humble father trying to eke out a living for his family by forming an orchestra and touring the countryside. King Henry VIII once said to More, "Master More, I want you to serve God first; after that, me." When he refused to serve Henry, he was thrown into the London Tower, after which he was tried for high treason, convicted and sentenced to be hung. More's last words were "I shall die as I have lived; in and for the Catholic church," showing just how he spent his life.

As a conclusion to his talk, Dr. Reilly expounded a few words about More's "Utopia" and showed how the supposedly ideal state which Sir Thomas More described had actually evolved as the state in which we live today.

but the running plays will be centered around the quarterback instead of the full and right halfbacks." More protection will be given to Ronnie Cahill on his pass plays. Coach Sheeketski said that he planned to have Cahill "fade" more, while the center, a tackle and a guard would drop back to lend their aid.

"The outcome of next season's work will depend largely on the players themselves. If they like the game, and I feel they do, then they will play their hearts out again as each man did in every game of the past season. In the new plays we have, there is a call for plenty of hard work, for hard work during the week means that Saturday is an afternoon of fun. This year they will know when they get on the field what they are going to do, when to do it, and how to do it."

"Regarding my assistant Ed Krause, I can't speak highly enough. First of all he is a perfect Catholic gentleman. His true worth has been known to me for many years. At Notre Dame, where we played together on the varsity team of 1932, his line play was outstanding and since graduating, his work as a coach has been of the best."

NEW ASSISTANT

"I have had my eye on O'Melia for some time and right along he has been displaying a swell spirit as well as a good football head. Consistently he has been a very hard worker and if any player in his first three years at college shows the perseverance and stick-to-itiveness that Ed showed, he is bound to click in his fourth year. He inaugurated here at Holy Cross the style of play for an end playing a six man line and to my mind a splendid model for all future "ends." His personality and power of direction, his study of plays, and his ability to speedily analyze any play will all be great assets to me and the team.

Praises Rockne and Wallace

"From the beginnings at Shadyside, Ohio where activity centered around baseball, football, and the captaincy of basketball to head coach at Holy Cross is a big jump. Two names stand out as the men who have helped me reach the peak at Mt. St. James. Rockne you all know well and Francis Wallace is one whom I wish every fellow here could know equally as well. You might have read his books such as "O'Reilly of Notre Dame" or "Touchdown" or might have seen the screen versions of his stories or you might have enjoyed his Saturday Evening Post Football Previews or Pigskin Parade but all these would but give you a glimpse of him. I count him as one of my most intimate friends and I can say "thanks" to him for first recommending me to Knute Rockne. To him I owe a debt of gratitude for years of sound advice. Wallace has ever been a loyal friend to me."

Atomic Theory Developed

In the seminar, conducted Monday, January 9, 1939, a treatment of the electronic concept of valence was given by Roland J. Bourke, '39. Valency was treated from its origin as first notions on the theory were expounded by Berzelius. Its development was traced concomitantly with advances concerning the structure of matter. With Dalton's atom and the supplementary works on molecular structure of Faraday, Berzelius, Dumas and others, the ground work was laid for theories of valency.

Electro-valency, co-valency and coordinate co-valency in atoms were treated along with a brief explanation of the accepted theory of the inner structure of the atom. The theory of electro-valency by Kossel was shown to be incapable of accounting for non-ionized links between similar atoms. The theories of co-valency and coordinate co-valency by Lewis and Werner, were shown to find their most striking applications in the field of organic chemistry.

McPHILLIP'S ABILITY RECOGNIZED BY PATCHER

The appointment of Bernard R. McPhillips, '39, as Associate editor of the '39 Purple Patcher was recently announced by Daniel F. O'Connell, Jr., '39, the annual's editor. It will be the new associate's task to supervise the cataloguing of the edition and the arrangement of topics and outlines.

His three years at Holy Cross have made McPhillips prominent in extra-curricular circles. Though among his activities debating is the most prominent, he is also an active worker in both the Albany Club and the History Society.

OUTSTANDING SOPHOMORES GREETED ON APPOINTMENT TO TOMAHAWK STAFF

Appointment to the News Board of the TOMAHAWK has been achieved this week by fourteen prominent members of the Sophomore class. ## PARKING DIFFICULTIES CLEARED

The sorest spot in the moral code of many Catholics was explored last night when Stephen Daly, '39, spoke before the Sodality on the "Ethics of Collegiate Mixed Company."

"When we begin the scientific study of ethics," opened the speaker, "we find the first principle to be that man was destined for happiness."

"People seem ignorant of the fact that outside marriage the practice of petting and necking are wrong and unethical, absolutely against any code of morals."

"Another difference between the sexes is worthy of note. Love in the boy is chiefly physical while in the girl it is chiefly psychical."

"Sex is always easy. It deadens interest in other normal outlets. For a fellow to avoid necking spells the difference between being merely a male and being a man. Anybody can kiss a girl. The real man is the one who doesn't kiss."

"What makes kissing wrong? It is always wrong, always mortal sin to let the sex organs become aroused, to deliberately permit that condition, and to take pleasure in it."

"When a person knows that he will convey his affection to the girl he will be engaged to marry by means of a brief pure kiss, would it not seem cheap to offer that same gesture to a girl in whom he has no serious interest?"

And as concluding remarks to a lecture, highly inspirational, Daly added, "Armed by prayer and the sacraments, especially Confession and Holy Communion, the Catholic can attack the sorest spot of practical morals in the world today — sex relations."

After last night's meeting the Sodality elected John Daunt, '39, prefect of the organization for the coming semester. As his assistants, the group chose Robert Eichorn and James Coffey, both of the class of '40, vice-prefects.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY ACTIVE

The Dramatic Society of Holy Cross College has booked two new engagements for its pre-Lenten season. "The First Legion" will be presented at Boston Latin School, February 24, under the auspices of the New England Intercollegiate Sodality Group. At the Town Hall in Shrewsbury, on March 12, this drama depicting Jesuit life will again be enacted. St Mary's Church of Shrewsbury has arranged for this presentation. The cast will be the same as that which played in Marlboro earlier this year.

K. OF C. SETS DANCE DATE

Committee For Gala Affair Headed By Osmanski

The annual Ball of the Crusader Council, Knights of Columbus promises to be quite an affair this year. An energetic committee led by Bill Osmanski is busily arranging several novel features for the dance which is to be held at the Town House, Feb. 21. The music for the pre-Lenten affair will be furnished by Joe Bier and his ever-popular Crusaders. Bids for the semi-formal affair will be $2 per

LABORITES BEGIN DETAILED STUDY OF CO-OPS

The cooperative system of satisfying human wants, was further discussed this week by the members of the Labor Academy. President John D. Sullivan's discussion of the "History of the Rochdale Cooperatives" last week, was continued by Eugene M. Harmon. The principles of the group plan to have the entire subject, in all its intricate aspects, treated at future meetings. The labor report of the week was read by John Bric, and the meeting concluded with the announcement that John McLean would present a paper next week on "The History of Cooperatives in Nova Scotia."

Alabama Debates Holy Cross

The forensic forces of the deep south will soon invade our halls. For according to a late announcement from the B. J. F., the University of Alabama is scheduled to meet Holy Cross on February 5. The place — our own Kimball Hall.

And in local debating circles—"Resolved, That the countries in and around Palestine should be granted local autonomy" confronted last week's B. J. F. session. The affirmative team of Kerrigan, Daunt, and Shea triumphed over the negative's Connolly, Quinn, and Hayes.

GREEK CONFAB CITES ILIAD

Last Monday afternoon, the Junior Honors Greek Course presented a seminar on the twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth books of the Iliad of Homer. Joseph E. Murray, Bernard F. Quinn, and John J. Houlihan appreciated two passages from each of the respective books.

On the following afternoon, John J. Devine, Jr. presented a paper to Sophomore A, Advanced Greek, on "The Political Undercurrents in the Antigone of Sophocles." He portrayed the Creon of the Antigone as a political ruler, the antithesis of an Athenian ruler.

ITALIANS TO VIE ON NATIVE TONGUE

In a business meeting of the Italian Academy, held last Wednesday night a program of activities for the remainder of the year was presented by Rev. Cannizarro, S.J., the Moderator. Included in the program are debates, lecture debates, and guest speakers. Although arrangements have not definitely been made, the Academy is eager to have Father F. X. Murphy, S.J. for one of its lectures. Fr. Murphy, a widely noted lecturer, is a familiar and popular figure here on the Hill.

First event of the Academy's new program is a debate to be held next Wednesday night. Appropriately, the question will be: "Resolved, That the Italian language should be taught in our colleges." Two freshmen, Simionelli and Mercurio will uphold the affirmative, while Terranova, '42 and Scully, '40 will argue against them. Fr. Dowling, S.J. and Fr. Fitzgerald, S.J. will be the judges, and Tony Peroni, '41, chairman. If the scheduled debates prove successful, attempts will be made to secure debates with Italian Academies in other colleges.

Cross Campus

By Jack Higgins, '41

Alumni II owes a debt of gratitude to Stan Matthews. He, it is, who collects the names of all who wish to pursue their studies in the early morning and when Stan has your name you may be sure that you will be called as your correspondent knows from bitter experience. But Stan's service goes even further. Not only does he awaken his victim but he stands the unfortunate one on his feet and starts him in the direction of the shower room with a gentle but firm push!

We noticed that the postal department headlines Susan B. Anthony on the new three-cent issue. It is our opinion that the beaming faces of Myrna Loy, Dorothy Lamour, Hedy Lamarr or Ginger Rogers would be mighty decorative. How about it, Jim Farley? ??

Sunday night an airplane made an emergency landing up on the practice football field. The New England Corrigan said: "The Hill makes a better place to land than Grafton Field and anyhow, it was getting dark."

Is it true that Frank Lynch, the night officer, went up to put a tag on the plane, and then charged the pilot for parking all night?

To Joe Lynch of Middleton, Conn., who was one of Hop's star linemen last fall: We hope that you will recover soon, Joe, and fill up that empty seat at Table 94.

In spite of the fact that the "jitterbugs" have no tails by which to hang from the branches we think Darwin could have worked them into his theory somehow or other.

"There goes Joe Ziltz . . . It's an end run . . . the interference is mowing down the opposition . . . he's in the clear . . . but now he's hit and downed for a two-yard loss." That's exactly the way some Holy Cross students go in exams.

What Holy Cross student's engagement was announced to a Regis girl at the last N. E. I. U. C. A. Dance, Friday night, at the Hotel Kenmore? Hello, "Fons!"

Overheard on the way to class: "Hi, Joe, how's the world treating you?" Says Joe: "Well, as far as I know, it hasn't for months."

Rumor hath it that there's a prospective member for the International Society of Liars in the Junior Class. This resident of Beaven recently told what is termed as a "whopper" in prevaricators' circles: — It seems that he went to a Montana mine and slipped and fell into the shaft. Not only did he escape scraping against the sides of the tube, but escaped unscathed although he had fallen some 1800 feet. As a proof, he showed a brown line across his chest; he stated that it was the level of the mud when he finally completed his downward plunge.

Our sincere condolences to Thomas B. Kerrigan, '40, and John Donlan, '39, on their recent bereavements.

REVIEW OF YEAR IN DANCEDOM

By Robert V. Quinn, Jr., '40

The outstanding occurrences in dancedom during the year 1938 included the blossoming of two exceptionally exciting bands and the advent of five outstandingly fine new outfits.

During the year 1938 the LUNCE-FORD band achieved a consistency of performance which it had never approached before and the lack of which always kept it from scaling the top. The result: continual thrills, colossal swing, fine musicianship, the blossoming of a magnificent swing band. The CROSBY Crew provided more and more Dixieland thrills, achieving, largely through the plentiful crop of Bob Haggart arrangements, a distinctive style that enabled it to ride in a new and deeper groove all of its own.

SHAW, switching from string swing to a more sock give-out, provided the greatest sensation of the year with the terrific kick of his outfit, a boot that kicked him right to the top in swing band rating. MILLER, reorganizing early in the year, brought forth easily the best all-around unit among the new bands, his sweet arrangements, with their individual, Millerian, five-way sax passages, providing sensational, musical thrills. KRUPA, working hard, kept whipping a raw band into swing shape, until at the end of the year it began to rock as mightily as does the magnificent drumming of its leader. CLINTON, always blessed with attractive arrangements, kept trying and trying new men until towards the end of the year he finally settled on a personnel that could do justice to his works. The inclusion of Bea Wain into his plans helped him plenty. LEIGHTON NOBLE, a new-comer who used to sing with the late Orville Knapp's band, brought forth a young outfit with a style based on that of his former leader, and succeeded in making it even more danceable and decidedly musical.

GOODMAN, despite the departure of Krupa, Shertzer, Rusin, Freeman and Tough, continues to reign as one of the greatest of swing greats in a style less passionate than his of a year ago. TOM DORSEY'S band, also replete with changes, continues as the best band when it comes to playing both sweet and swing.

"It is well that the author is making these volumes, published originally as a digest of lectures for students of philosophy at Holy Cross College, accessible to a larger reading public."
—America.

"The amount of matter included in these texts is noteworthy. Students completing the two volumes will have passed a fairly active two-semester course and may feel that they have practically all the essentials and details that a course in Scholastic Ethics can offer."
—Modern Schoolman, May, 1930.

"Father Sullivan has presented his theses in syllogistic form. This adds greatly to the value of these volumes both in the classroom and in the hands of students."
—Catholic World, November, 1930.

"I like your orderly arrangement and method in treating the subject and find your books very useful."
Rev. John F. Wilson, O.S.A., Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

"This last definition, gentlemen, I take from the 'Special Ethics' of one of your neighbors, Rev. Joseph Sullivan, S.J., professor of Ethics in Holy Cross College, a book which, by the way, I take the liberty to recommend to you . . . I feel sure that if you read that book you will admit that you will have been helped to think more clearly and more helpfully on what is right and wrong in all these domains."

Professor Louis J. A. Mercier, A.M., Litt.D., Harvard University. (From an address delivered before the Springfield, Mass. City Club.)

"The exposition is uniformly clear and the arguments well sustained."
—Ecclesiastical Review, October, 1930.

"We are finding these volumes very satisfactory for the senior class in philosophy as a text book."

ROME SPEAKS

An Associated Press dispatch from Rome appearing in the Worcester Daily Telegram date-lined January 16th — "L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, asserted that Catholics could favor only the Insurgent Side." (Franco's Side).

A STRANGE STATEMENT!

"A Franco victory in Spain," Ambassador Joseph Kennedy declared, "would immeasurably strengthen Latin-American Fascism by wiping out the powerful democratic influence of the Loyalists."

O'Kane IV Quintet Still In Front, Frosh Maintaining Strong Pace

Freshman Team Leads League With Six Straight Wins

The boys from Campion's "Frat" were easy victims for the Loyola V quintet. The "Frat" men started off with a rush but the Seniors held their own and finally pushed the "Campionites" back on their heels, nearly doubling the score before the final whistle. Hartcorn and Tucker with thirteen and seven points respectively led the Seniors, while Johnny Bogdan turned in a worthy six points for Campion.

The scoring column had that lean and hungry look at the competition of the Beaven IV encounter with Beaven II. Both teams rose to outstanding heights in this basketball drama to register four points apiece by half time. That is real shooting! In the final half the Philosophers from the second floor put on their binoculars and began to shoot in earnest. Pinky Russo spread his ample frame all over the court utilizing it to the tune of seven points. Collins wasn't as robust in body or score, but produced four points for the "needy" side.

Whalen Stages Merriwell Finish

Alumni V and Beaven III were really in mid-season form in Tuesday's thriller. The game was a dog-fight from start to finish, Alumni V emerging the victor, thanks to Jack Whalen's last minute toss, 34-33. Whalen was the "big-gun" in Alumni's bombardment, and the star of the afternoon — football is not Jack's only sport. Medford kept the "Beavenites" in the running tallying 17 points. Beaven led at the half 16-10 but Alumni kept driving on to knot the score by the end of the fourth quarter, and then to victory in the overtime.

The second and final game of Tuesday night found Alumni VI hard pressed in defeating Alumni IV 28-27. McGinnity and Claussey scoring 11 and 10 points respectively played gamely for the losers, who for three periods were unable to find the range of the basket. O'Brien was the sharpshooter for Alumni VI dropping in three field goals.

Temple A. C. Wins

Fenwick IV and Alumni III combined to produce one of the week's highlights. The Freshman forged to an early lead, passing in, under, and around their towering rivals. However, the Sophs soon asserted their superiority leading by six points at half time. The third quarter was evenly contested. In the final stanza, the Frosh opened up with Pete Saiano and Phil Murphy putting on the steam. However their lead was short lived for the height and bruising type of play of the Sophs snowed the yearling under. Malinowski, in the closing minutes dropped in a "sucker" shot to give victory to the Alumni.

The "gangling Sudetan" and "roly" Lou Presti were the big factors in the afternoon's activities.

Juniors Set Endurance Record

Alumni V battled the Worcester juniors unrelentingly through three regular periods and three overtime sessions before admitting defeat 22-18. McAuliff provided the winning margin in third overtime hooping in the two prize points. Cunningham added a free toss to put the game on ice. Alumni's defeat may be attributed to inefficiency in caging them from the foul line.

Alumni II rode roughshod over Dorm III, stampeding them under an avalanche of baskets, 84-5. Every man in Alumni's line-up broke into the scoring column, led by Holland with 18 points, followed closely by Jennings and Nussbaum with 16 points each. During this barrage, the Dorm managed to word the "ref" into granting them a couple of free tosses — at least they hit the basket then. Judging from the high-powered attack manifested by Alumni II we predict some free scoring contests when they oppose the leading Freshman quintets.

THRILLER WON BY ALUMNI

Alumni III came very close to meeting their Waterloo last Wednesday when they encountered a strong Freshmen quintet from Fenwick. The gridiron stars towered over their adversaries, but when it came to fight and courage the Frosh left very little to be desired. Never once did they stop "digging," nor did once give up the game for lost until the final whistle blew. The final score was 28-25 with the Sophs on top.

Mal Malinoski had everything his own way for the first few minutes of the game, but it was subsequent that he realized these boys were out to win. Alumni then applied the pressure, and determined themselves that it was much too early in the season to go down to defeat.

There wasn't any time during the game that showed evidence that either team could "walk in." Battles under the basket were numerous, and due to the fine officiating of Naughton and Candela the game was kept well in hand. The lead changed hands at frequent intervals. But neither club held it longer than two or three minutes.

Because of his height Malinoski led the scorers with 13 points. The scoring for the losers was well divided with Saiano, Murphy, Greaney and Noonan getting 8, 6, 4 and 4 points respectively.

The boys from Fenwick need not feel discouraged because of their defeat. They showed themselves to be ball players to the "tee," and despite the many obstacles that faced them they fought back valiantly.

Alumni II set a court record the other day when they scored 84 points against a weak Dorm III outfit. O'Kane III scored 86 points against the Beaven Boobies, but the latter game was a 32 minute affair while the former encounter had the time cut to seven minute quarters. If this type ball continues, new nets will be in great demand.

The "Boobies" showed much improvement when they held Beaven II to 16 points. Whenever the Boobs hold a club to less than forty points, they consider their loss a moral victory. Last night they lived up to their "rep" by losing to Beaven III.

One more week has become a thing of the past and another Holy Cross football coach has been appointed. Two weeks ago, we had the opportunity to announce the nomination of Head Coach Sheeketski, and last week the appointment of the line coach, Ed Krausse, was given out. And now, this week, we have the pleasure to announce exclusively the appointment of Ed O'Melia as end coach. Ed, who graduated last June from the Cross will be assistant to Coach Joe Sheeketski as well as coach of the ends.

The recent appointments of Joe Sheeketski as Head Coach of Football and Ed O'Melia as End Coach certainly are climaxes to the careers of two men who have surely come up the ladder the hard way. There has been no "Frank Merriwell" finishes and no easy rises to fame for these two men.

Our new Head Coach, as a sophomore at Notre Dame, was Marty Brill's understudy. This fact speaks for itself, for all who have heard of Brill know he was one of the greatest backs in the Irish football history, and thus was heavy competition for a sophomore. However, never despairing and never quitting, Joe always kept in the running through hard work and much enthusiasm, until, in junior and senior years Joe was used much by Coach "Hunk" Anderson as a climax runner. In such a role our present Head Coach reeled off much yardage and many touchdown runs. It was Kansas and Indiana who suffered most from Joe's ability as a speedy and elusive runner. However, it must be remembered that Joe rose to the heights of Notre Dame football greatness not by luck, favoritism, or in any meteoric rise to fame, but by a steady, continuous drive which led him from a substitute's roll to one of a headliner.

Nevertheless, when Joe signed up as backfield coach at Holy Cross, he still had a ladder to climb. Again he has scaled the heights and again through hard work and sacrifice. For six years, Joe remained as assistant coach, always seeing a definite goal in the distance. Finally, on December 19th, Joe reached his goal — the head coaching position at Holy Cross. Thus, in two definite endeavors, Joe Sheeketski has proven the adage that "success is the result of hard work and sacrifice."

As we look at the football career of Ed O'Melia on the Hill, we again see an example of one who had to fight for everything he ever got in the way of football honors. As a sophomore, Ed had to compete with Johnny O'Donnell, Bill Ritterhaus, Bob Curley, Red Daughters and several other end aspirants for the first string berth. When his senior year rolled around, Ed realized that he had played but off and on in his first two years on the Varsity. But 1937 was a banner season for Ed. Leaping from the bench and a varsity career of obscurity, Ed developed into one of the finest flankmen ever to wear the Purple. It was Ed who time and again crashed through to down opposing backs in their tracks, and it was Ed who was more than once down the field under punts to tackle the safety man. We all remember Ed's greatest thrill when he tallied against Colgate in '37. It was quite early in the ball game and Colgate was stopping the Purple ground game deep in their own territory. Ronnie Cahill received the pass from center, faded back a few steps and heaved one right down the middle. Cutting over from his right end position was "Number 61" who snared the pass on the dead run, evaded Colgate tacklers, and crossed the last white line standing up. Ed O'Melia had scored his first touchdown for Holy Cross! However, it was only a just reward for three years of hard work of football on the Hill!

Loyola III is a club that will surely not win the league, but they will cause a great deal of trouble for any contender for the title. They are definitely an "in and out" ball club. Don't take them too lightly when you meet them on the hardwood.

Duke University SCHOOL OF MEDICINE Durham, N. C.

Four terms of eleven weeks are given each year. These may be taken consecutively (graduation in three and one-quarter years) or three terms may be taken each year (graduation in four years). The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and three years of college work, including the subjects specified for Class A medical schools. Catalogues and application forms may be obtained from the Admission Committee.
